

MEN DRAFTED IN ORDER OF LIABILITY TO SERVICE TODAY

LIST OF THOSE REGISTERED IN DISTRICTS 2 AND 5 WHOSE NUMBERS WERE FIRST DRAWN

Jesse Welling of Dawson With No. 258, Becomes No. 1 in Local Division, Many Well Known Young Men of Connellsville and Vicinity are Included in List as Compiled From Series of Numbers Drawn at Washington.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Drawing for the war army began at the Senate office building this morning at 9:49 o'clock in the presence of Secretary Baker, the Senate and House military committees, a group of high officials of the government and representatives of the press. It is estimated that from 10 to 12 hours will be required to draw all of the 10,000 numbers required to fix the liability of each of the 10,000,000 men registered.

The following men will report for examination in the order named, their numbers having been drawn in this order. The figure is the serial number, followed by the name of the registrant holding this number in District 2, followed by the name of the registrant who holds the same number in District 5, Fayette county. There are about 2033 registered in the latter and 2,571 in the former, so in some cases, there is no second name.

6 RECRUITS HELP FILL UP RANKS OF LOCAL COMMAND

Waiting List of Applicants, and More Will Be Added to Company D Today.

SERUM IS STILL MISSING

Inoculation to Begin as Soon as it Arrives; Drill on Fayette Field This Morning; Company Sports at South Connellsville Bathing Beach.

Recruiting to fill the vacancies caused in the ranks of Company D by the failure of 14 men to pass the physical examination began last evening and six applicants were passed. The men were examined by Lieutenant L. K. Rhodes and were sworn into federal service at the army last evening. They will report for duty immediately.

The men who were accepted last evening are: Sherman Mason, McClellandtown. Clyde M. Flanagan, Uniontown. Edward H. Stineck, Uniontown. Francis Kirk, Connellsville. Frank Crossland, Uniontown. John Becktel, Uniontown. There is quite a large waiting list of applicants on record at the army now, and more will be added to the roster of the company this afternoon. Lieutenant L. K. Rhodes will conduct all the examinations.

The serum for inoculation of the company has not yet arrived, although it was expected two days ago. It will be administered immediately after it gets here. The first dose will be given by Lieutenant Rhodes, who will not leave until the serum comes.

Many of the "recruits" will get their first experience with the serum, older members of the company receiving injections of it last year when they went to the border. The "shot" causes a slight fever, but some of the soldiers claim it can be worked off by drilling hard for a couple of hours. Otherwise they say it will last a period of several days.

Yesterday afternoon the company was taken to the beach at South Connellsville and everyone went in for a swim. Instead of carrying guns, the soldiers carried weapons of cleanliness, soap and towels. On the return they were ready to eat all "Billy" Bishop would serve them.

This morning the men were taken to Fayette field for a hard drill. With a company of 150 men it is impossible to drill efficiently on the streets near the armory, and Fayette field, with its cleared surface, makes a first-class drill ground.

The progress the company has made in the first few days of mobilization is a source of delight to the officers. The soldiers are doing as well now, after only five days drilling together as the company was doing last year a month after its arrival at the border.

The hospital corps went to Mount Pleasant yesterday afternoon where the detachment assisted in examining the company there. That company has not yet been mustered into federal service. Part of the corps went to Mount Pleasant again today.

Company D is still without a first sergeant. Sergeant French Durst is temporarily holding that office but no one has been appointed permanently. This place will likely be filled before the company leaves for the Southern training camp.

Supplies for Co. D: TWO FAIL IN TESTS. The provisions and supplies for Company D at Mount Pleasant having arrived from this time on the men will live at the Frick park grounds, where the tents have been pitched. The company has but one cook, John Biner, and an attempt will be made to secure one or two more men who can cook today. The mess tent has been pitched in Frick park.

Medical Inspector Sellinger had completed his inspection of the company and the seven reserves today with the exception of six men. The Tenth hospital corps came over from Connellsville yesterday to assist in the inspection.

Of the seven reserves, five are married, and one, William Lakin, has an injured foot, so six of them are not likely to serve. Of the company, two have been found physically unfit.

The anti-typhus serum and the vaccine have arrived and inoculation and vaccination will likely take place today.

Killed by Fall of Slate. Jacob Bobbitch, 31 years old, and Anthony Dzyan, 33 years old, of Fayette City, were killed yesterday afternoon by a fall of slate in the coal mine of the Bellevue Coal & Coke company, near that place. The bodies of the men were badly crushed.

To Undergo Operation. Mrs. A. P. Freed of Ninth street, West Side, was removed to the Columbia hospital, Pittsburg, yesterday afternoon, where an operation for appendicitis will be performed. Mrs. Freed has been ill a week and her condition is serious.

Brakeman Injured. A Rutherford, a brakeman on the Connellsville division of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, is confined to his home in Cumberland with injuries suffered while at work.

TO SECURE FARM HELP AND WAKEN UP INDUSTRIAL SLACKERS

Is The Big Task Before the County Division of the Committee On Public Safety.

The necessity for providing farm-ers help during the harvesting and planting seasons and the best means of dealing with industrial slackers, were principal topics under discussion at the meeting of the Fayette county division of the Committee of Public Safety in Uniontown yesterday.

It was the consensus of opinion that the best results can be obtained through a cooperation of effort between the civilian service committee and those who are in closest touch with laborers in the different lines of employment, and through an appeal to the patriotism of workers generally. To assist in making such a plan effective James S. Darr, factory inspector of Connellsville, was named assistant to Benton Boyd, chairman of the committee on civilian service. A conference will be held with Farm Agent Dougherty and E. E. Arnold of Flatwoods, chairman of the food supply committee, with a view to arranging the details of a campaign to enlist workers for the harvest season.

There was a large attendance than usual at the meeting of the county division and the interest taken in the work which lies before this body is an indication that a fuller realization is being had of the magnitude of the task. The members from Connellsville and vicinity present were: E. T. Norton, member of the executive committee; James S. Darr, member of civilian service committee; W. R. Kandler, chairman of the committee on electric railways and motors; George S. Connell, secretary of the northern division; Benton Boyd of Trotter, chairman of the civilian service committee; J. J. Barnhart, Sunnyside, chairman of committee on military service; M. E. Strawn, Dawson, chairman of the committee on naval service.

Dr. A. R. Kidd of Connellsville who had been appointed chairman of the committee on sanitation and medicine, asked to be relieved from serving inasmuch as he expects to be shortly called into service in the medical officers' reserve corps. Mayor Rockwell Marietta, named as chairman of the committee on civilian relief, declined to serve on account of pressing business and official duties.

SUBSCRIPTIONS OF RIFLE CLUB TEAMS WILL SWELL FUND

Reports to Be Submitted Tonight Are Expected to Give Company Fund a Substantial Boost.

No estimates are being given out of the total amount the subscriptions being secured by the Connellsville Rifle Club teams will add to the Company D and Hospital Corps Fund when reports are submitted at the meeting in the armory this evening. It is believed that they will make a very substantial increase in the fund.

The corrected list of Uniontown subscribers to the fund, as published by the Morning Herald show the total to have been $378.00 instead of $400.00 as reported earlier. Adding a $25.00 subscription received by Lieutenant Robinson the total of Uniontown's portion of the fund becomes $403.00, instead of $428.00, as reported yesterday. This reduces the aggregate by $25.00.

With this correction the fund stands as follows:

Connellsville:
Previously acknowledged by The Courier and Captain Norton:	$1,019.00
D. H. Horton:	5.00
Adolph Herzberg:	1.00
J. B. Mittlerberg:	5.00
Total, Connellsville:	$1,030.00
Uniontown:
Corrected total:	$403.00
Aggregate, Uniontown:	$1,433.00

The boys will be given a hearing before Alderman Fred Munk this evening. One other youth arrested in connection with the trespassing was given a hearing Wednesday evening and was released on paying the costs.

Autofist Fined $150.

Another autofist paid a $150 fine for allowing his machine to stand beyond the time limit in West Apple street. He was arrested by Special Officer Smith Newcomer.

METHOD BY WHICH DRAWING IS MADE FULLY EXPLAINED

No Master Key Numbers Used; Draft Plan Changed at Last Minute.

SINGLE DRAWING ONLY

Full Ten Hours Instead of One Required for Lottery to Determine Order in Which 10,000,000 Registrants Will Be Called to Service.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Ten million men are registered in the United States for war service—687,000 are needed in the first call for the National army. Who shall go first?

This question is asked and the method by which it is to be answered is outlined by Provost Marshal General Crowder in an explanation issued of the great drawing being held in Washington today.

In order to reduce the mechanical process and make it possible for the 1,000 numbers drawn to reach every man in every district, a so-called master key had been devised. This was to be obtained by drawing slips numbered from naught to 10 which were to be listed in the order they would be drawn to form the key.

The plan of using a master key number, with two drawings, was abandoned last yesterday afternoon when it was discovered that in some districts the boards had divided the lists by election precincts assigning the serial numbers to the whole district group. In explanation of the reasons for the sudden abandonment of the double drawing plan, Provost Marshal General Crowder said:

"If the drawing is conducted as originally planned, in groups of 1,000, the result will be that considerable proportions of certain election districts will be brought up for examination together.

"This will result in drafting persons from one locality within the jurisdiction of a board before any person is drafted from another locality within the same jurisdiction.

"For this reason it has been decided to abandon the drawing by thousands and to draw 10,000 numbers, which is in excess of the highest number of cards under the jurisdiction of any board.

"The only change in the plan will be that there will be one drawing instead of two. The advantage will be greater simplicity. The disadvantage will be that the drawing will require 10 hours to complete."

The trouble necessitating the change originated in New Jersey. As soon as it became known a quick search was made in the local board records of other states. A similar situation was found to exist in many parts of the country. In some lists colored and white registrants had been classified in separate groups and Continued on Page Three.

FIFTH REGIMENT OF ENGINEERS ARRIVES SAFELY IN FRANCE

Unofficial Cablegrams Bring News of Landing to People of This Vicinity.

The Fifth Regiment, Army Engineers, in which are half dozen young men from this section, has arrived safely in France. According to unofficial cablegrams, the regiment was landed on French soil, during Wednesday afternoon. Half a dozen Pittsburg people received cablegrams appraising them of the fact.

At Washington, General McIntire, army censor, refused to confirm the fact of the engineers' arrival. He said that hereafter nothing will be given out concerning troop movements to France. Such movements will be continuous, and the department promises to publish immediately news of any disaster. In the absence of such publication it may be assumed that the troops are safe.

Among the boys from this section who are with the regiment are Earl Russell, Samuel J. Harry, Jr., and Ernest Van Sant of Connellsville; Herbert Shank of South Connellsville; Archie McCormick and Ray Coll of Pittsburg, well known here.

GYPSES ORDERED OUT.

Fortune Telling Shops Opened by Them Are Closed by Police.

Gypsies opening headquarters in three different sections of the city, to conduct a fortune telling business, were ordered to move out by Chief of Police B. Rottler, it being a violation of the state laws for them to practice this phase of "faking."

They will probably have to move out of the city soon.

SPLENDID WORK IS ACCOMPLISHED AT RED CROSS ROOMS

Women Sewing Sheets and Bedding, Hospital Bed Sheets, and Other Articles.

MANY SOCIETIES HELP

Various Organizations Select One Day a Week on Which Members Turn Out to Aid Work of Mercy Business Women's Activity Worthwhile.

Splendid work is being accomplished by the women of Connelville and vicinity who for some weeks past have been meeting at the Federal building to sew for the Red Cross. Realizing the seriousness of the nation's war and the big demand for clothing and the other needs of the soldiers, the women have been sewing diligently and as the result of their work, a number of bed sheets, operating sheets, dress sheets and pillow cases have been completed, and work on hospital bed sheets has just been taken up. This is work in which every patriotic woman of Connelville can assist. Assistance is needed and there is not a woman in Connelville but who can give several hours on the day of the week which is the most convenient for them, to the work.

The Red Cross rooms in the Federal building are open every morning from 9 to 12 o'clock, the morning hours being chosen on account of the weather being cooler, thus making it more pleasant and comfortable for sewing. Women could not wait to be invited to the sewing, as their help in any way possible, will only be greatly appreciated by the work room committee.

Twice a month, on Thursdays, the Women's Guild of the Trinity Episcopal church hold all day sessions at the Federal building to sew for the Red Cross, and each week the members of the Philip Freeman Chapter of the Daughters of American Revolution have been devoting an afternoon to the work. Various other organizations, including the Vanderbilt Fancy Work club and the Priscilla Sewing club, are also entering into the work with much interest. The Dorcas society sews regularly on Thursday mornings.

Up to the present time the women who meet each day have been making only bed sheets, draw sheets, operating sheets, hospital bed sheets, and pillow cases, and have been getting along wonderfully well with the work. Miss Grace Robinson and Miss Grace Buel of the Business Women's Christian association, of which organization's Bible class Mrs. J. F. Kerr is teacher, have the honor of completing the first two hospital bed sheets. The shirt were placed on exhibition at the Red Cross headquarters for inspection and women who have had a wide experience in sewing found them to be perfectly made. The sewing is unusually neat. The business women of the city, who are members of the association, despite the fact that they are busy at their work practically all day, have responded nobly to the Red Cross work. Each Monday night they meet at the Federal building and on one night have made as many as 75 sheets. Last Tuesday morning young women who are taking their vacations devoted the morning to sewing.

The articles and the number of dozens completed up to the present time are as follows: Bed sheets, 20; draw sheets, about 18; operating sheets, three, and pillow cases, 18. After each of the named articles is completed it is carefully inspected by Mrs. J. French Kerr, who is chairman of the work room committee, and other members of the committee, and their aides, who inspect them in turn looking after the work. Every article so far completed has come up to the uniform dimensions and has been found perfect in every other respect. The member of the committee or her aide looks after the cutting also. Monday morning Mrs. J. French Kerr is in charge and Tuesday morning Mrs. W. O. Foley is on hand. Wednesday morning Mrs. F. W. Wright, with Mrs. Josephine Field, doing the cutting, is in charge, while on Thursday morning Mrs. P. R. Welner, with Mrs. Josephine Field and Mrs. J. D. Hogg cutting, is in charge. Friday morning Mrs. D. D. Brooks presides for Mrs. J. French Kerr, Mrs. William Grouse does the cutting.

The average number of sheets made from one bolt of muslin is 17. The bed sheets are torn 103 inches, with a two inch hem at the top and a one inch hem at the bottom. When completed they are 63x99. The draw sheets are 72x72, torn with a half inch hem at the top and bottom. The pillow cases are cut 29 inches with a two inch hem and a seam at the end. When completed they are 21x36 inches. The operating sheets are 43x54, finished with a half inch hem at each end.

The hospital bed sheets are cut over a pattern, cut with a seam and are made of a towel or muslin the same as used for muslin bandages. The sizes are 38 and 50.

The pajamas are cut by J. W. McClure and E. W. Horner and up to the present are being made by women of the Philip Freeman Chapter Daughters of American Revolution.

At the American Revolution. The materials used are soft grey and plainer stripes cutting muslin. The sizes are 38 and 49. Dr. Katharine Wakefield, chairman of the Red Cross Chapter, has received 45 bed sheets from the Woman's Christian Temperance Union at Laurel Hill.

The three rooms on the second floor of the Federal building which were donated as headquarters are comfortable and are fitted up with all the necessary equipment for sewing. Each morning an interested group of women may be found busily sewing for the soldiers and when they have completed their task they will feel that they have done their part in rendering service to their country.

Twenty-seven members and guests attended a basket picnic held yesterday afternoon at the home of A. C. Fite at Pennsville in connection with the regular meeting of the Christian Culture class of the United Presbyterian Sunday school. A feature of the outing was an elaborate picnic supper served from large tables arranged under the trees and laden with the many good things to eat of the season. Everybody displayed a hearty appetite and did justice to everything placed before them. Following the supper, the class meeting was held on the lawn with Miss Margaret Buskirk presiding. Mrs. Harry Franks, secretary, read the report, which showed over 400 calls made during the year and 71 made during the present month. Rev. W. J. Everhart, the pastor made a few instructive and entertaining remarks. The class decided to meet next Thursday afternoon at the Federal building to sew for the Red Cross. The business meeting was followed by a fireworks display. The remainder of the evening was devoted to singing old time songs, with Miss Everhart accompanying. Guests were Rev. and Mrs. W. J. Everhart, Mrs. J. B. Everhart, Mrs. R. E. Maxwell, Mrs. George Hyatt, Miss Lillian Franks, Miss Edith Buskirk, Jane Lunsberry, and Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Fite.

About 50 children and ten grown persons attended a delightful picnic for the Beginners and Primary departments of the First Baptist Sunday school. The outing was given by Mrs. A. R. Boyer, teacher of the Beginners department and Miss Grace Workman, teacher of the Primary department. The picnic grounds were conveyed to and from the picnic grounds in a large auto truck loaned by Munson Bros., and automobiles loaned by Smith Grimm, Mr. Workman and Frank Hicks. Everybody had a general good time. The weather was ideal and the spacious grounds of the Workman home were turned over to the crowd. A picnic supper consisting of all the delicacies of the season was served. The jolly crowd returned home about 6:30 o'clock.

An organization of the W. O. S. Sewing class took place at a meeting held Wednesday night at the home of Miss Louise Schell in Chestnut street. A dainty luncheon was served. The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Catherine Durnell in East Patterson avenue.

Miss Mary Christine gave a party last evening at her home at Redmore for the entire force of McCrory's five and ten cent store. The evening was delightfully spent at various amusements, including games and music. A delicious luncheon was served to about 25 persons.

The serial numbers ran accordingly. In others, names were separated and given their own group of serial numbers.

It was a hopeless tangle. If the double drawing system were carried out, one election district in any exemption area furnished to meet what ever. In other cases it might be necessary to pass upon and exempt a thousand names before a single American was called to service. In others a thousand names might be taken for examination before a white man was called or vice versa.

There was only one way out and the War Department promptly announced that the whole intricate method of drawing devised to save time, would be abandoned.

Since the average exemption district registration is 3,000 and there are 4,557 districts, the average number of men listed with each operation of the drawing machinery will be about 10,000.

General Crowder announced also, that local boards will be instructed to call 200 per cent of their quota at the first call to provide for probable exemptions. That means that 1,371,000 men will be notified to appear for examination within the next few days. If more are necessary, they will be called for as needed by the local boards in the order provided for in the drawing.

In some districts the 100 per cent allowance for exemption may be too large and in others too small, but the local boards will be instructed in every case to continue calling for men until the district quota is filled. Each state governor is now allotting to his districts their respective portions of the state's quota.

In each of the 4,557 exemption districts among which the 10-million registration cards have been divided, the cards have been given serial numbers. The number of registrants in each district varies from about 135 in the smallest to more than 10,000 in the largest, so that the serial numbers to be dealt with in the drawing range from one to between nine and 10 thousand.

In the drawing itself there will be nine acts.

A handfolded man will stir the capsules in the receptacle thoroughly before any are drawn, and will keep stirring them during the drawing.

A handfolded man will then draw capsules out one at a time. As each capsule is drawn it will be handed to an announcer, who will break the capsule and announce the number drawn. While he is announcing the number, a second capsule will be drawn and handed to a second announcer, who will break the capsule and read the number. The drawing will proceed in this way until all the capsules are drawn.

Three tally sheets will be kept. One keeper of a tally sheet will repeat each number as it is announced, and a third will write it down. The slip will then be handed to an official in front who will verify the announcer's report and on his verification another man, stationed at a great blackboard, will write the number in its order on the board.

The board will hold 1,000 numbers. When it is filled it will be taken out of the room, photographed, cleaned off and returned, the drawing continuing meanwhile with a second board in use.

The official record of the drawing which will be furnished to the local exemption boards and in accordance with which they will call out the men to fill each district quota, will be made up into books of 11 pages, each page being a photographic facsimile of the blackboard. The exemption boards will take no action toward summoning their men until these books reach them through the mails.

"Now to one knows how many men must be examined to yield 687,000 soldiers. Therefore no one can say just how many men it is absolutely necessary to put on the list."

"A man's registration will prove that the whole 10,000,000 must be given their places on the list of order of examination."

"Ever registered man is in a state of uncertainty. He does not know when he will be called. He hesitates to plan a crop for fear he will not reap it. Employers hesitate to engage in services, fearing they will be but temporary. This condition ought to be cured for the repose of the public mind. It can be cured to some extent by putting every man on the list."

"For this reason the whole 10,000,000 names are to be given places on the list of order of examination."

"Six all registered men stand in an equality of right and duty, the question of priority can only be determined by lot or drawing. It would be impossible to have 4,557 separate drawings—one for each group—but since methods would vary and since supervision and absolute insurance against the charge of fraudulent manipulation could not be had in that way, every consideration of expediency and justice urges one drawing in Washington."

In each group, every registration card has a red-linked number written on its face and three numbers run in a single series from unity (1) to the number corresponding to the greatest number of cards in the group. Normally this is from unity (1) to about 3,000.

Exact copies of the cards in each group have been attended and sent to the various state capitals. Lists showing the name of each man in each group and the serial number of his card have been posted in the office of the board, published in the press, and one copy is on file in Washington. There is, therefore, no chance of any man's number being changed without detection, or of any card being lost beyond replacement.

Suppose there were just 3,000

STOP FOOD WASTE Your Patriotic Duty

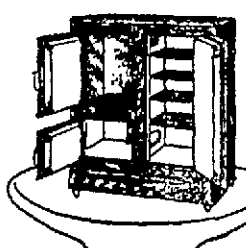

The food problem is one of the biggest that faces Uncle Sam today. Government experts have shown that we waste $700,000,000 worth of food annually.

It is your patriotic privilege to help stop this waste. Bacteria, fostered by heat, are the real cause of food decay. Food must be kept in a temperature below 50 degrees. This is impossible if you keep your food in cellars, out of doors, or in cheaply built refrigerators.

The LEONARD CLEANABLE REFRIGERATOR will preserve your food longer and better. It saves ice, too. In the long run, it more than repays its cost. Ten insulating walls and automatic air-tight locks shut out heat effectively. The Leonard maintains a low, uniform temperature on the hottest days. Its fresh, ice-cold air circulation prevents odors. The only refrigerator with superb, pure white, porcelain lining extending clear around door frame and around edges of doors—the most sanitary arrangement—not a crack or crevice for food-destroying bacteria.

GREAT ACTIVITY IN CEMENT MAKING

Production and Shipments During Past Six Months Exceeded Those For First Half of Last Year.

The first half of 1917 has been a period of great activity in the Portland cement industry. Production and shipments from practically all mills have considerably exceeded those for the corresponding period of 1916, according to E. F. Burdard, of the United States Geological Survey, Department of the Interior, and prices are now higher than they have been for 19 years. The present strong demand for cement is reported to come principally from small consumers, many of whom are in agricultural districts, although, as usual, much cement is going into roads and pavements.

The war in Europe has apparently not yet much affected the demand for cement. Factory construction has taken a moderate quantity, but the demand directly for military purposes seems not to have been notably great, although it will doubtless become greater as the war progresses and as the United States takes a larger part in it.

The prices of cement, however, have been greatly influenced by the war. The increase in the cost of fuel has been out of all proportion to the increase in the selling price of cement. It is reported that of late the fuel cost per barrel for burning clinker in the Lehigh district has been greater than the entire cost of manufacturing cement three years ago. Everywhere also the increase in the cost of labor, mill supplies, machinery, explosives, bags, and other things essential to the cement industry are reported to be proportionately greater than the increase in the selling price, so that manufacturers are not obtaining large profits.

Though wages are generally good there is scarcely a cement plant which is not suffering from shortage of labor.

TO REVIVE COURTESY.

The traveling public is now having an opportunity to cultivate courtesy and kindness to fellow travelers which has been so long neglected that it has almost fallen into disuse. The curtailment of passenger train service, in order to facilitate the movement of troops, war materials and supplies, will result in more or less crowding of trains. In directing the attention of employees to this condition Elsie Lee, general manager of the Pennsylvania railroad, has requested them, not to occupy seats when pay passengers are standing. They are reminded that transportation issued to employees is a privilege while the purchase of a ticket confers upon passengers a right to the best accommodations the company can give.

"The obligation of an employee," says Manager Lee, "in such a case, is plain and rests upon the principles of courtesy and right. It may be performed without embarrassment to anyone, and without attracting needless attention, by simply arising and moving quietly to another part of the car or train."

While these admonitions are addressed to employees male pay passengers should feel themselves to have been included among those to whom the injunction to courtesy is addressed, especially to ladies and old people and even to tired railroad men who are on their way home from a hard run. Some pay passengers of the gentler sex can contribute their share to the cultivation of courtesy among travelers by displaying a real appreciation of the deference others, including train employees, may show them.

WAR SERVICE FOR MECHANICS.

The war will provide opportunities for service by practically every class of citizens, but perhaps none greater than to those in the industries. Training skilled mechanics and high-grade helpers is the next step in National Preparedness and it is through this means that those who have taken courses in trade and manual training schools, and institutions with shop-work departments, will be called upon to supply the demand that will come for semi-technical workers in the metal trades and other industries.

In a statement just issued by the Bureau of Education it is declared to be impossible to forecast definitely the numbers of mechanics and operatives of various kinds that will be required. Officers of the army, navy, and civil service commission are agreed, however, that during the next few months there will be an unusual demand for capable foremen, mechanics, and high grade helpers in a number of important occupations. The following are some of the workers who will be most urgently needed: Automobile mechanics; bakers; blacksmiths; boat builders; chauffeurs; cooks; draftsmen; electricians; steam and gas engineers; machinists; motorcycle mechanics; painters; pipefitters; riveters; saddlers; shipbuilders; shipwrights; tentmakers; textile workers; wheelwrights; stenographers; typewriters.

It is pointed out that the demands for these workers will come from the regular enlisted corps of the army and navy, from the enlisted reserve corps of the army and navy, from the eligible registers of the civil service commission, and from private employers whose workers are called into government service. After the war there will also be a continued demand for similar workers in the reorganization and rehabilitation of industry.

To prepare young persons for the work it is urged by the Bureau of Education that the special schools providing training of this character offer special intensive courses through the summer months to train mechanics and machine operatives of various type and that students now enrolled continue their training in order to be better equipped when the demand comes for service of the kind indicated.

With Senator Vorhies, one of the "little group of wise men," and also one of the larger group of authors Democrats publicly proclaiming his sympathy with the men retaining conscription in Canada, there is little wonder the slanders in the United States are disposed to slack still more.

Rippling Rhymes

EXPERIENCE.

I jogged along a country road, in my large chee-choo dragoon, and met a farmer with a load of pumpkins in his wagon. "Go back, go back," the granger said, through whiskers long and ruddy; "you'd best turn round—the road ahead is dangerous and muddy." "I never yet have seen the like," I said, "that scared this auto, and I'll go on, so help me Atlas, for 'God there' is my motto." I drove into a marshy hole, when I had gone some distance, and farmers took away my roll for giving me assistance. We talked and wrought a night and day, to remedy my folly, and when again I took my way I met with no mishap. The road of life is much the same, the road we merrily follow; we're warned by men whose plow the game, to show the way; we're helped, they tell us where the way is worst, and where the bridge is rotten, and when we've gone a half a year, their counsel is forgotten. We will not learn from such, and never who've walked the path before us; we go on the prophet with a sneer and wonder how he came here. And every day we pay the price, the cost this course exacts; we stick in mud and break through ice, and bust our best summer-tender.

"It seemed as though my nutrition was retarded and my strength was leaving me rapidly."

"I would awaken at night from cold sweats."

"I could not eat with any satisfaction, and as a consequence my stomach went completely back on me."

"I bought some of this new medicine, Tanlac, because a friend told me about it, and because he recommended it to me so highly."

"Since using Tanlac my stomach has returned to its normal condition. I eat and sleep well. I am as strong as ever; in fact, I feel like I am fit for the battle of my life."

"This Tanlac is certainly a great strength giver. It beats anything I have ever seen. I am going to keep the medicine around here to take in the future. You certainly can bet on that."

Tanlac is now sold in Connellsville exclusively by the Connellsville Drug Co., where the premier preparation can be had.

Tanlac can also be secured in Dunbar at D. C. Eason's Drug Store.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"DOUBLE TROUBLE"—A five reel Triangle feature in which Douglas Fairbanks is seen in the leading role and a two reel comedy, are being presented today. In "Double Trouble" Douglas Fairbanks, the screen favorite is seen at his best and the picture throughout is intensely interesting. He is supported by a cast of unusual excellence. Tomorrow Wilfred Lucas and Edna Miller will appear in "Her Excellency the Governor," a Triangle feature in five acts. Joseph Kilgour, the well known Broadway actor plays the "heavy" in the production. An array of gowns that will go straight to the feminine heart are those worn by Miss Miller. For this play Miss Miller has searched New York's most exclusive shops and has gathered an unusual assortment of beautiful models for her use as a young society girl and lieutenant governor of the state. The story is one of society and political life and has a background of richness appropriate for the governor of the state and his associates. The opening scene is set in a ballroom and is a brilliant picture of fashionably gowned women and well groomed distinguished men. In another scene Miss Sylvia Marlowe, the wealthy young woman lieutenant governor, is informally "at home." Monday's feature will be "Lady Barnacle," starring Viola Dana.

THE ARCADE.

"Corbett's Dream Girls Musical Comedy" company today opened the last bill of the week at the Arcade, a one act farce and music, "Murphy's Reception." The scene is laid on the lawn of Murphy's home where a surprise birthday reception is given in Murphy's honor. Being unprepared for the surprise, Murphy enters with his colleagues and chum, Michael Sweeney, and is immediately showered with presents and much gaiety. Miss Selma Forrest, has kept the secret a surprise from her husband, which is an unusual thing for a lady to do. Miss Gertrude Lynch as the town sport, falls in love with Murphy's daughter, much to the disgust of Murphy. Clair Chubb, as the chum of Murphy, keeps things moving lively, but before the fall of the curtain a merry mixup follows, during the action of the farce. The War Department's war news weekly, a funny Universal comedy, "The Seacrow's Secret," and a beautiful little love story, "Cupid's Victory," make up the screen show. Next week's show will be Gun Sun's $1000 guaranteed attraction, Holke's Footlight Rambler Girls, presenting three famous Broadway musical comedy successes, "A Night in Bohemia," "The Red Widow," and "A Jolly Pair."

ORPHEUM THEATRE.

"ANNIE-FOR-SPITE"—A new Mutual drama starring that fascinating little actress Mary Miles Minter, will be the attraction today. "Annie-Forspite" is an orphan whose meagre living, deprived from work in the basement of a department store, is supplemented by board and room for her services in looking after the small children of her landlady in the evenings. Also a two reel Fox comedy Tomorrow Marquerite Clark stars in the great romance, "The Prince and the Pauper." It is the sort of story that will delight all and is one that can well be called part of a liberal education, since it introduces to the public the work of one of the nation's greatest of letters. Also a good Fox comedy.

Confluence.

CONFLUENCE, July 20.—Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Dateman and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. C. Barr left last evening for Philadelphia, where they will spend several days. Calvin Recknor and H. P. Groat, have returned to their home in Dunbar. S. A. Waltersberger of Somerset, was a business caller in town yesterday. Flemming Hostettler of Morgantown, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hostettler here for a few days. Mrs. John Miller and children of Humboldt, visited the former's sister, Mrs. John Darby. Mrs. C. M. The Magnetic Girl

Strength, stamina, vigor, physical force, personal charm and magnetic influence are not to be found with weak, thin, anemic men and women but are attributes of people with an abundance of vitality and red blood. Doctors and specialists of late years dwell upon the importance of guarding against phosphorus and iron deficiency and attention is drawn to the great number of anemics who could (with little effort and expense) join the ranks of healthy, magnetic men and women. Numerous notices have appeared in the press from time to time telling of the remarkable benefits to be derived from the regular use of an organic phosphorus and iron preparation known among druggists as Irophos. The properties in this preparation are so wonderful in their action upon the human system as to merit the unrestricted and unanimous praise of more than a score of the world's most celebrated specialists and are now rapidly gaining favor with American physicians. If you feel "worn-out" or "run-down," if you lack snap, stamina or physical force, if you have sleepless nights or are thin, nervous, anemic, and have that tired, listless feeling, get a supply of Irophos and note the daily increase in strength, vitality, endurance, nerve force and firm, healthy flesh. The formula is printed on every package, show it to your doctor and ask him if Irophos does not consist of the greatest strength and nerve tissue building properties known to medical science. It can be obtained from all first class druggists but any druggist who is out of stock can easily obtain Irophos for you from his wholesaler.—Adv.

THE purchasing power of money has declined in this country until now it takes $1.50 to do the work of $1 two years ago. But, when conditions again become normal, the readjustment will result in a corresponding increase in money's purchasing power. Therefore, the man who, instead of spending, invests his money safely and wisely, not only receives interest on his investment but also can look forward to an increase in his principal's purchasing power which is equivalent to an increase in the principal itself. CHAPTER XIII.
Sydney Carton.

WILLIAM wished only to die in some quiet spot and to have Miss Pratt told about it in words that would show her what she had thrown away, but to follow the others in the wake of the Swedish lady named Anna, and as they stood in the cavernous hollow of the great barn he found his condition suddenly improved.

Miss Pratt turned to him unexpectedly and placed Flopt in his arms. "Keep Flopt close," she whispered. "Flopt love ole friends best."

William's heart leaped, while a joyous warmth spread all over him, and though the execrable lumox immediately propelled Miss Pratt forward, by her elbow, to hear the descriptive remarks of the Swedish lady named Anna, William's soul remained uplifted and entranced. She had not said "like" she had said, "Flopt love ole friends best."

William pressed forward valiantly and placed himself as close as possible to the right of Miss Pratt, the lumox being upon her left. When the party came out of the barn William beheld Miss Pratt, not walking at his side, but, on the contrary, sitting too cozily with George Cropper upon a fallen tree at the edge of a peach orchard just beyond the barnyard. It was Miss Parcher who had been walking beside him, for the triumphant couple had made their escape early in the Swedish lady's discourse regarding the farm and the various animals.

In vain William murmured to himself, "Flopt love ole friends best." Purple and black again descended upon his soul, for he could not disguise from himself the damnable fact that George had dined with the lady while he, wretched William, had been permitted to take care of the dog! He strode to the barnyard fence and dropped Flopt rather brutally at his mistress's feet. Then, without a word, even without a look, William walked laughingly away, in the shade of a great walnut tree, to the shade of a great walnut tree, to the shade of a great walnut tree, to the shade of a great walnut tree.

William's final mood was one of beautiful resignation with a kick in it—that is, he nobly gave her up to George and added irresistibly that George was a big, fat lumox. William saw himself a sad, gentle old bachelor at the family fireside, sometimes making the subject of his resignation so that she and the children might never know the truth about George, and he gave himself the solace of a fierce sneeze or two with George. "Remember, it is for them, not you—your thing!"

After this human little respite he passed to a higher field of romance. He would die for George, and then she would bring the little boy she had named William to the lonely headstone. Suddenly William saw himself in his serene and future character—Sydney Carton! He had lately read "A Tale of Two Cities," immediately re-reading until, as he would have said, he "knew it by heart." And even at the time he had seen resemblances between himself and the appealing figure of Carton. Now that the sympathy between them was perfected by Miss Pratt's preference for another, William decided to mount the scaffold in place of George Cropper.

The scene became actual to him, and, setting one foot upon a tiny mill wheel which some one had carelessly left beside the smokehouse, he lifted his eyes to the pitiless blue sky and unconsciously assumed the familiar attitude of Carton on the steps of the guillotine. He spoke aloud those great last words:

"It is a far, far better thing that I do than I have ever done. It is a far, far better rest that I go to—"

A whiskered head on the end of a long, crooked neck protruded from the smokehouse door.

"What say?" he inquired loudly.

"Xenophobia," stammered William. "You take your feet off that mill wheel—"

William abruptly departed. He found the party nobly established in the Metropolitan Museum. Sydney Carton had kept a chair beside himself vacant for William. Johnnie Watson was in no frame of mind to sit beside any "chattering girl," and he had protected himself by Joe Bullitt upon his right and the empty seat upon his left. William took it.

He began to eat; he continued to eat; he did well. So did his two comrades. They ate chicken, both white meat and dark, and liver; they ate corn on the cob and fried potatoes and green peas and string beans; they ate peach preserves and apricot preserves; they ate biscuits with grape jelly and biscuits with cranberry jelly; they ate apple sauce and apple butter and apple pie; they ate pickles, both cucumber pickles and pickled tomatoes, also pickled peppers and pickled onions; they ate lemon pie.

At that they were no rivals to George Cropper, who was a real eater. Love had not made his appetite ebullient today. George laid waste his section of the table. This pretty companion at his side at first seemed dumfounded, then, with growing enthusiasm for what promised to be a really magnificent performance, she began to utter little ejaculations of wonder and admiration. With this music in his ears George outdid himself.

When George did stop it was abruptly, and he and Miss Pratt came out of the house together rather quickly, joining one of the groups of young people chatting with after dinner languor under the trees. However, Mr. Cropper began to revive presently in the sweet air of outdoors, and, observing some of the more dashing gentlemen lighting cigarettes, he was moved to laughter. He had not smoked since his childhood, having then been bonded through to twenty-one with a pledge of gold, and he feared that these smoking youths might feel themselves superior. Worse, Miss Pratt might be impressed; therefore he laughed in scorn, saying: "Burnt up ole trash around here, I expect!" He sniffed scornfully. "Somebody's not smoke ole rag on fire." Then, as in discovery, he cried, "Oh, no; only cigarettes!"

Miss Pratt, that tactful girl, counted four smokers in the group about her and only one abstainer, George. She at once defended the smokers, for it is to be feared that numbers always had weight with her. "Oh, but cigarettes is lousy smell!" she said. "Little George-smokers maybe be too 'little boy for smoking'!"

"Me? I don't smoke paper and ole carpets. I smoke cigars!" He had created the right impression, for Miss Pratt clapped her hands. "Oh, splendid! Light one, Uncle George-cum! Light one ever 'n' ever no quick! 'Tushus Flopt an' me we want see dray, big, 'n'ormous man smoke dray, big, 'n'ormous cigar!"

William and Johnnie Watson, who had been hovering morbidly, unable to resist the temptation, came nearer, Johnnie being just in time to hear his cousin's reply.

"I forgot my cigar case." Johnnie's expression became one of biting skepticism. "What you talkin' about, George? Didn't you promise Uncle George you'd never smoke till you're of age, and Uncle George said he'd give you a thousand dollars on your twenty-first birthday? What'd you say about your 'cigar case'?"

George felt that he was in a tight place, and the lovely eyes of Miss Pratt turned upon him questioningly. He could not flush, for he was already so pink after his exploits with unconscious nutriment that more pinkness was impossible. He saw that the only safety for him lay in boldest preparation. "A thousand dollars!" he laughed loudly. "I thought that was real money when I was ten years old. It didn't stand in my way very long. I guess! Good ole George wanted his smoke, and he went after it! You know how I am, Johnnie, when I go after anything. I been smokin' cigars I dunno how long! When I smoke I smoke! I smoke cigars straight along—light one right on the stub of the other. I don't want any paper. I want something that's all tobacco!"

William's pale, and face showed a hint of color. With a pang he remembered the package of My Little Sweetheart All Tobacco Cuban Cigarettes (the Package of Twenty for 10 Cents), which still reposed, untouched, in the breast pocket of his coat. His eyes smarted a little as he recalled the thoughts and hopes that had accompanied the purchase, but he thought, "What would Sydney Carton do?"

William brought forth the package of My Little Sweetheart All Tobacco Cuban Cigarettes and placed it in the large hand of George Cropper. And this was a noble act, for William believed that George really wished to smoke. "Here," he said, "take these. They're all tobacco. I'm goin' to quit smokin', anyway." And, thinking of the name, he added gently, with a significance lost upon all his hearers, "I'm sure you ought to have 'em instead of me."

Then he went away and sat alone upon the fence.

SNAKE OIL

Accomplishing Most Wonderful Results.

I want to thank you for your wonderful oil, states Mrs. J. C. Gibson, of Jonesboro, Ark. Now she is well. It is the greatest remedy I ever saw. Mr. Gibson made this statement before hundreds of people. Mrs. Florence Manger, 224 Whitney St., Hartford, Conn., writes: I have used your Antiseptic Oil for neuralgia with good effects. Only thing I have ever tried that stopped the pain immediately. Mrs. Williams, Gadsden, Ala., writes: I have used your sprat pain oil for rheumatism, stiff joints, also for sore throat, and I want to say that it is the greatest remedy I ever tried. I recommend it to all suffering. Many cures reported daily from thousands of grateful users of this wonderful oil. Every bottle guaranteed, 25c. 50c and $1.00 a bottle, or money refunded. NEWS OF THE DAY AS GATHERED UP IN BUSY MILL TOWN

Officers Looking for Man Who Joined Company and Never Reported.

TO JUDGE GARDENS SOON

About 100 in Civic Club Contest This Year; Another Red Cross Sewing Club Formed Among Women of United Brethren Church; Personal.

Special to The Courier
SCOTTSDALE, July 20.—An officer was here from Greensburg looking for Walter Baird, who he stated, had joined the Tenth Regiment supply company but had not reported to be examined with the other members of the company. At the post-office it was stated there was no Baird in the town, but that last week a man had presented himself at the office several times and asked for mail for Baird, but had received no letter. Evidently Baird was expecting a summons and had not received any. After having joined, there is every reason to believe that he wished to go, or he would not have enlisted. The man was an able-bodied man and there is every reason to believe that could be found he would make an excellent soldier.

To Judge Gardens Soon.

The Civic club gardens are doing very nicely and there are almost a hundred of them out. These gardens are almost ready to be judged and the committee will visit them shortly and look them over, with a view to having them inspected and prizes awarded to the proper persons. Photographs were taken of the gardens early in the season and those will enable the committees to look over the improvements that have been made.

H. of A. Lawn Fete.
The Daughters of America on Saturday evening will give a lawn fete at the lawn of Mrs. Jeannette Parry on Market street. In case the weather should be wet, the affair will be held in the Jr. O. U. A. M. hall in the Loucks building on Pittsburgh street. These ladies will have everything that is in season and good to serve. Another Sewing Unit.

Red Cross Unit No. 18 has been formed by Mrs. Huttlemann, of women of the United Brethren church, with Mrs. Howard Miner as chairman and Mrs. Margaret Loucks Hermy as secretary. These ladies will sew one day each week.

U. H. Picnic.
Trolley cars will leave the Scottsdale waiting room at 7:55 A. M. on Saturday for the United Brethren picnic at Oakford Park. The members of the Sunday school will be taken free of charge and the committee will furnish coffee on the grounds.
